Frank C. Brown Collection Of North Carolina Folklore

Frank Clyde Brown was born at Lenoir, Virginia, October 10, 1870 and died at Durham, North Carolina, June 3, 1943. He was graduated with the A.B. degree from the University of Nashville, Tennessee, in 1893 and began at once his long career as a teacher. In the same year he married Miss Ola Marguerite Hollis, of Covington, Georgia. She died in 1928, and in 1932 he married Mrs. Mary Henkle Wadsworth. In 1907 he received from the University of Chicago the M.A. degree, and in 1908 the Ph.D. degree, with a dissertation on "The Settlements of the South." In 1909 Dr. Brown came to Trinity College, Durham, as Professor of English. He was then already interested in folklore, and a few years later organized the North Carolina Folklore Society. At the same time he was actively concerned with the affairs of the college: he was chairman of his department and as Marshal he superintended for many years all its public ceremonies. After the college became Duke University he was made Comptroller and was continuously occupied with the plans and appointments of the new buildings on both campuses. Though he left his mark on Trinity College and Duke University, his most enduring monument is this Collection of North Carolina Folklore, which was made mainly through his personal efforts and the enthusiasm he inspired in others.
