Five ghostly tales together in one omnibus, including:

GHOST COLLEGE

Monty and Ellen Drew, a husband and wife paranormal investigating team—he's a skeptic, she's a medium—are summoned to a southern California bible college after workers report hearing mysterious voices at night. When they encounter the unhappy ghost of a young girl, Monty's skepticism is shaken, but he resolves to help his wife free the trapped spirit. Their search uncovers the Latin phrase "Non omnis moriar"—not all of me shall die—and they learn more about the site's history as a Catholic school destroyed by an earthquake. But a mysterious presence has plans of its own for the young ghost, and Monty and Ellen must go head to head with a Dark Master that's had more than a century of practice in demonic deeds. Now Monty must leave his body to do battle with the Dark Master, and he's not sure Ellen will be able to bring him back in one piece. He's not even sure what's happening is real. All he knows is that all hell is breaking loose and he's taking a crash course where an "F" means eternal damnation.

ECHO PARK

Pauline Ocean, from J.R. Rain's acclaimed bestselling novel, THE BODY DEPARTED, returns in ECHO PARK as a world-class Medium to the living, but whose lifework is dedicated to helping the spirits go "Home." She's not just a psychic, she's an investigator, too. When Julie, a new client, comes to her about a disturbing recurring dream, Pauline has a murder case on her hands. The souls of three ghosts are at stake: Mack is the household haunter who irritates Pauline with his habit of knocking over furniture, but she's secretly comforted by his friendship. Mack has an amusing request, and what he does in return for her reveals more of the secret life of spirits. Mack brings Carla to Pauline for help. She's a little girl with a tragic ending and an old soul. Carla touches Pauline's heart with her stunning idea of how to set things right. Michael is a vile young man with a dark past, and worst of all, the light has never come for him. And perhaps, it never will...

SILVER LAKE

When Pauline sees a man in a newspaper engagement announcement who looks like a younger version of Mack, she gets a bad feeling about the impending marriage. After she pries the truth out of Mack about his own life and death, Pauline and her friend and sidekick, Julie, have not just a cold case murder on their hands, but the clock is ticking for them to prevent history from repeating itself with Mack's billionaire son, Garrett. Pauline and Julie go up against Garrett's supermodel fiancée, who is determined to get what she wants from him, and she will stop at nothing to succeed. Pauline and Julie join their spiritual forces in the race against a dangerous beauty who has let the power of prettiness go to her head.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

A Christmas Carol is a novella by Charles Dickens, first published in London by Chapman & Hall on 19 December 1843. The novella met with instant success and critical acclaim. Carol tells the story of a bitter old miser named Ebenezer Scrooge and his transformation into a gentler, kindlier man after visitations by the ghost of his former business partner Jacob Marley and the Ghosts of Christmases Past, Present and Yet to Come.
